VETS RETURNING HOME

Helping homeless veterans in crisis reclaim independence

The goal of Vets Returning Home (VRH) is simple: to end chronic homelessness among veterans. While many veterans of military service seamlessly return to civilian life, others struggle. Within the context of a stable, sober living environment, VRH provides life skills and employment training, job placement and disability benefit assistance, legal aid and program after-care to men and women who have served their country in all branches of military service. Located in Roseville, VRH is a Michigan founded organization committed to help heal and make whole those who have risked their lives for our freedom.
